PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Having joined the Board of Governors of the Fraser-Hickson Institute in 2017, I assumed the role of President just over a year ago. Despite the ongoing challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, I am pleased to report that 2021 has been a period of healthy transition and steady growth for our Library.

Allow me to begin by thanking my predecessor as Board President from 2015 to 2020, the inimitable Nicholas Hoare. I am the grateful recipient of his legacy of achievement. As he steps over to the Honorary Board, his love of books, storytelling and passionate defense of literacy promotion remain a guiding light.

In March, we celebrated Helen Fortin, our former CEO and Executive Director, in honour of her retirement. Helen established our flagship minibiblioPLUS project and helped to cement our reputation as a leader in the field of early literacy development in Canada. She continues her involvement as a member of the Governing Board.

In April, we welcomed Asha Dixit to the role of Executive Director. Asha's leadership and professionalism, compounded by the dedication, energy and hard work of our wonderful staff and volunteers, are central to our success.

The Fraser-Hickson Institute is overseen by a devoted Board of Governors who volunteer their valuable time and energy. I thank them for stepping up to serve our community. Let me also take this opportunity to personally acknowledge Arthur Schweitzer, who stepped down from the Board in 2021, for his longstanding contributions. Our stable progress is a testimony to the vision and generosity of our donors who understand the vital importance of literacy promotion, and to the rich relationships we have cultivated with our many community partners. We could not carry out this important work without the continued collaboration of the arrondissement de Côte-des-Neiges-Notre-Dame-de-Grâce. I extend a personal thank you to Sonia Gaudreault, Directrice culture, sports, loisirs et développement social, and Roseline Rico, Cheffe de division culture et bibliothèque, for their commitment to the health and wellbeing of children in our community, and to building a stronger, more vibrant, and resilient borough.

The Fraser-Hickson was founded in 1885 as the first privately funded, free public library with a mission to promote literacy and facilitate access to books. As you can see, a lot has changed in 136 years. Today, we bring books to the borrowers, rather than the other way around. Yet we remain faithful to our mission of raising literacy levels and instilling in children a life-long love of reading and learning by providing free access to books and animation services, with an emphasis on encouraging parents and caregivers to read to children during their first 1000 days of life.

We live in unsettling times. Quebec's literacy gap was an issue long before the pandemic. But as the health crisis continues to exacerbate existing economic and health challenges, while increasing levels of precarity, instability and inequality in many households, the need to address the problem becomes more acute. Closing the literacy gap is both a vital pandemic challenge and a generational opportunity to lay the groundwork for Quebec's inclusive recovery. As a mission-driven library, the Fraser-Hickson Institute assumes this challenge joyfully and with purpose.

Happy reading!

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

In April 2021, I stepped into the Executive Director's position at the Fraser-Hickson Institute, and it has been a delightfully busy year of healthy growth.

The minibiblioPLUS project grew from strength to strength, serving 130 partners with 219 programs, impacting about 14,000 participants, bringing more than 10,000 books to children, and delivering around 5000 hours of programming through our volunteers. minibiblioPLUS brings the magic of books to children and provides our partners with access to trained volunteers. Staff facilitate Early Literacy workshops encouraging parents to read to their children from Day One to ensure that they are equipped with essential skills early on. This is critical for their future success.

Over the summer, our participation in the Read On Canada! coalition initiative, headed by the Canadian Children's Literacy Foundation in collaboration with Food Banks across Canada, brought more than 150,000 books directly into the hands of children and families along with several literacy resources. The World Literacy Foundation awarded this initiative the World Literacy Award under the category: Significant Contribution to Literacy in response to the pandemic. In August, I spoke to Anita Nowak (an empathy expert, author and speaker, award-winning educator, and social impact coach) on her Purposeful Empathy Podcast about how reading to children from Day One can foster Social-Emotional Literacy.

In October, we celebrated International Literacy Day with the Honourable Marc Garneau, Member of Parliament for NDG-Westmount, reading to children at Garderie Mary Poppins. Global News covered the event, and in his short interview, MP Marc Garneau reiterated the need for more parents to read to children, especially in the First 1000 Days. In addition, Board President Celine Cooper and I wrote an op-ed piece in the Montreal Gazette, focussing on the immediate need to make Early Learning and literacy a national priority by all Federal parties.

Our progress and impact would not be possible without the unwavering support of the arrondissement of Côte-des-Neiges-Notre-Dame-de-Grâce. Thank you to our generous donors and like-minded collaborators (FIRST BOOK CANADA, Les Éditions 400 Coups, Babar Books, Scholastic Canada and Gallimard Publishing) whose commitment for promoting early literacy has strengthened our program delivery and helped recruit credible and talented staff. I am also tremendously grateful to our dedicated Board of Directors for the counsel, mentorship, and valuable time they have provided. I also extend my thanks to our 90 plus volunteers, whether in-house, story-time animation or delivery, who have demonstrated a steadfast commitment to our mission despite the ongoing challenges of COVID. Finally, sincere appreciation to my brilliant staff, who have shown exceptional creativity and hard work in reaching project goals.

In closing, bringing the gift of early learning, books, and stories to our community in 2021 has been immensely fulfilling. However, a challenging recovery from the pandemic lays ahead and calls for a redoubling of efforts to bridge the literacy gap. The Fraser-Hickson Institute must continue growing and serving the community, especially to those who need it the most.

"For my first volunteering experience as a student, I eagerly accepted to join minibiblioPLUS because I find that it is never too early to introduce books to children. Giving toddlers the pleasure of enjoying stories reminds me of the joy I felt when my parents read to me. Books have allowed me to stimulate my imagination and arouse my curiosity, to escape and to immerse myself in a world of fantasy. This has been such a rewarding experience which has allowed me to be not only a source of information for children's literacy and to promote the love of reading but also a source of joy, pleasure, and comfort."

- Daniel Savulescu, Story-time animation Volunteer

"minibiblioPLUS was a great discovery that has allowed me to understand the meaning and importance of volunteering during my social integration process in Québec. In addition, animating story-time activities has allowed me to engage my family and build team skills. It was a great experience to discover the options of social participation that we have around us. It has truly been wonderful! I am grateful for your mission and for promoting early literacy!"

Thank you, Helen!

In March 2021, Helen Fortin, CEO and Executive Director of the Fraser-Hickson Institute decided it was time to retire. She founded the flagship minibiblioPLUS project that provides customized mini-libraries and early literacy activities to promote and build literacy in children up to 8 years old. Understanding the power of collective effort, she nurtured relationships with volunteers, staff, board members, donors, and other like-minded literacy-focused organizations, thereby invoking national interest in the project. Her role was instrumental in cementing Fraser-Hickson's reputation as a leader in early literacy development in Canada. On her retirement, she transitioned to the Board of Governors and continues to counsel management. The Board and staff wish her all the best in her future endeavours.

TESTIMONIALS 2021

NASSIMA, DIRECTOR, GARDERIE QWAQWAO

I thank you for your effort and your incredible generosity towards our daycare. Since receiving all your books, all the parents and children are happy and take full advantage of this opportunity. Our staff strongly cheers you for your upcoming activities. It is a very nice initiative that you are starting with us. We would also like to thank the volunteer who comes to offer story-time to the children! It is very enjoyable.

ALEXANDRA, DIRECTOR, SUPER KIDS PRE-SCHOOL ACADEMY

Your idea of story-time videos is amazing. We definitely share the videos with parents at our school. The volunteers have fun and they don't read too quickly. Parents appreciate that the volunteers look directly at the camera. Everyone looks forward to more videos at story time. The personal connection is always paramount and the fact that the children see their regular volunteer, either from home with their parents or at the daycare, amplifies this notion.

ZAHRA, PARENT, PEP (PARENTS ENGAGÉS POUR LA PETITE ENFANCE)

I love watching your story videos with my son, especially the French ones, since we don't speak French at home. We watch them right before bedtime so that my son can imagine and think about these stories before bedtime, and it has become our ritual. He sleeps better, and so do I. It gives us a good feeling, and we enjoy the time together.

ECATERINA, SOCIO-CULTURAL IMMERSION COORDINATOR, AIRSOM PRISME

A book for us is like a treasure that quickly becomes a real springboard for our little ones to become future lovers of reading. In our opinion, it stimulates the child's creativity, favors language, and provides the child with a moment of calm and sweetness. We have planted a seed of reading within the walls of Centre Prisme that will only grow stronger and bear fruit! This seed, aka reading corner, will be carefully fertilized every two months thanks to minibiblioPLUS our new partner and friend! Long live our collaboration! Thank you for your support!

PATRICIA, DIRECTOR, MA PETITE ÉCOLE SNOWDON INC.

A big thank you for the quality of the books, they are well chosen, and we appreciate the availability of the employees. We are really happy.

SILVIA, DIRECTOR, GARDERIE MARY POPPINS

We have had a partnership with minibiblioPLUS since 2018. It has been a great experience that I recommend to all daycares in our community. minibiblioPLUS has allowed us to share readings and books with our children. Our educators have benefited from the books provided to enrich the themes and educational programs they implement here. The team is so organized. We have a quick response whenever we need something.

NOUNTHIA, COORDINATOR, LA MAISON BLEUE CDN

Reading supports children's development on many levels, including language acquisition, listening skills and the ability to recognize written words. I encourage initiatives, such as Fraser-Hickson's, that encourage parents to read regularly to their children from birth and thus ensure a successful start to school. Everyone can share the pleasure of reading!

SANCHEZ FAMILY, VOLUNTEERS, ANIMATION

The experience is very enjoyable for all three of us. Story time is an activity that integrates us in a different way as a family and at the same time allows us to learn skills that we can develop as a team. I think it's a multi-faceted experience; it allows us to continue to learn about ourselves, to integrate ourselves, and to introduce our daughter to the many social participation options she finds around her. It is fantastic!

DENISE, EDUCATOR, GARDERIE JULIETTE LÉA & CIE

We are very happy to have access to this special program. Having a minibiblio at the daycare, with the possibility for families and staff to borrow the books, is wonderful. The daycare team and parents appreciate your flexibility and having a volunteer for story time, especially at this time with the pandemic.

TREASURER'S REPORT

As in every year, we have maintained our efforts to reach as many children as possible with the resources available. This year has been particularly challenging, as our total revenues dropped for the first time in five years.

We ended with a small overall surplus, despite one time increases in human resources and a slight increase in administrative costs.

We are confident that early in 2022, we will bounce back.

We continue to enjoy the participation of our faithful multiyear donors, and we have welcomed some new ones.

We are also delighted to benefit from a continued and most welcome cooperation with the City of Montréal.

As well, we look forward to a very bright future with our new leadership and her dedicated team.

Respectfully,

Pierre Chanzonkov
