

Book Suggestions (Canadian Children's Book Week)

Alligator Baby, by Robert Munsch

Age 3-8

Alligator Baby is another of Robert Munsch's humour-filled stories. When Kristen's mom goes to the hospital to have a baby, Dad gets lost along the way and finds himself at the zoo instead! The adventure begins when they realize that they brought home an alligator baby instead of Kristen's baby brother. Children will have a good laugh in this quest to find Kristen's lost brother and bring him into the family.

Simon and the Wind, by Gilles Tibo

Age 3-7

Have you ever wondered about the wind, how it carries things around? Can the wind carry you and make you fly like the birds? This is what Simon wonders in this amusing book by Gilles Tibo. After many attempts to fly fail, Simon discovers how he can have fun with the wind.

Big Bear Hug, by Nicholas Oldland

Age 3-7

Nicholas Oldland offers us a heartwarming story about a bear who loves to give hugs—to animals and to trees! However, when he stumbles upon a man who is set upon cutting down the trees, the bear felt really angry. How does the bear deal with the man and what happens to the man? This ecological tale is sure to inspire.
